

School-based Health Centers:

Partners in your child's care

What we do:

- Neighborcare Health's school-based health centers provide medical, mental health and dental care in your child's school. This reduces the time your child misses class for health appointments.
- Our health care providers coordinate care with your child's primary care providers, and your child's school if necessary, to provide your child with high quality, comprehensive and individualized care.

Where we are:

Neighborcare Health operates school-based health centers in 12 Seattle schools. (See back.)

When we are open:

We offer appointments before, during and after school throughout the school year, Monday–Friday.

Cost:

We bill your health insurance directly for services. If you do not have insurance, our eligibility specialists can help you enroll in a plan. No student is denied services due to lack of insurance or ability to pay.

How to use our services:

Complete a registration form for the school-based health center at your child's school (your child must attend that school).

Services offered:

(slight variations exist from school to school)

- Evaluation and treatment of common health problems (allergies, rashes, sickness, etc.)
- ADHD evaluations and treatment
- Help with managing chronic and complex health conditions
- Annual well-child check-ups
- Camp or sports physicals
- Vaccinations, including flu shots
- Reproductive health services
- Dental services
- Mental health counseling (help with emotional, social or behavior issues)
- Health insurance enrollment assistance
- Crisis intervention
- Health promotion and health education
- Assistance for families seeking a primary care provider and a health care home
